

Adrian James Corley Calderon

December 28, 2010 - February 21, 2011

Adrian James Corley Calderon, affectionately known as A.J. and Gustavito, was given as a gift on December 28, 2010 to Adrian and Candice Corley Calderon and big sister Pearl. When Adrian was born, his grandma Kevin, who loved music and preceded him in death, wrapped her arms around him by placing musical notes on his hospital ID. He entered the world surrounded by people that love him. Adrian's life would seem too short to many, but those who were touched by him understand that quality of existence far exceeds the quantity of time one lives. His gentle smile could melt the hearts and brighten a room of those around him. With his presence, he made us believe that each day is a blessing and an opportunity to create everlasting memories. Adrian made his transition and was granted his "Angel Wings" on February 21, 2011. He leaves cherished memories with his loving family: Mother Candice Corley Calderon

“ Our hearts are breaking for you Candace, Adrian, Pearl, Nicole, and Jim. Your arms must be achingly empty. Our God will hear your cries and bind your wounds. May it give you peace that A.J. is in the arms of Jesus, and that Grandma Kevin was there to greet him.
