“ Bea has always been a wonderful example of what womanhood should be to all of us. She is a first class "Southern Belle". We have had many conversations about the roles of women and how they and their options have changed over the years. No matter what decade she could have been born into this world, I know she would have been that same good example. I think of Proverbs 31:10 when thinking of Bea--"Who can find a virtuous woman? for her price is far above rubies." Bea was a wonderful wife and mother. She was always so good to me and others in our family. She showed class in all that she did and said. She was unselfish and sweet. I only regret not spending more time visiting her over the years. I would have liked for my children to have known her even better. I will miss talking to her. She is at this very moment probably checking to see if Aretee needs anything! I love her and respect her so very much.
