

Bernard "Scott" Dedenbach

September 4, 1951 - January 2, 2023

Bernard Scott Dedenbach passed away peacefully in January 2, 2023. He was born on September 4, 1951.

He received his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, Michigan. He nurtured his passion for the visual arts throughout the remainder of his life. He dedicated his personal time to cultivating his painting, sketching, watercolor and photography skills. He shared his works of art with many of his friends and family. His kind heart and warm smile will be missed by all who know him.

A memorial gathering will take place on Saturday, January 14, from 2 p.m. until time of service, 3 p.m., at Wm. Sullivan & Son Funeral Home, 705 W. 11 Mile Rd. (4 blocks east of Woodward), Royal Oak.

“ Oh man, Scott. I wish I had known the deeper side of your, but we were art buddies. I had not realized when we reconnected at CCS, (Center for Creative Studies), that you and my sister Donna graduated together. May you both RIP. We shared rides to school, laughs, joints and thoughts. You were totally taken by my best friend there, Beth. Maybe those drawings no one can figure out who they are are her.

I also attended your family reunion, and knew many of your family...Karen and Tom, Peggy and Frank and other cousins. I know Peggy's sister Celia, and would go with her.

I'm thankful for reconnecting with you these past few years through phone calls. Most were random from you, but I always answered and I'm glad I did. You called me nearly a year before your passing, New Years Day, 2022, at 8:00 am. That one I didn't answer, lol.

I cherish my memories of our friendship buddy. Love and Hugs.

“ Scott always seemed to show up at the Shrine Church, often sitting peacefully in Heritage Hall, the special museum-like entry into the body of the church. After a very brief visit, he often would gently pull out a watercolor or black and white sketch of Father Solanus Casey, now Blessed Solanus, and give it to me with a gentle smile before he went on his way. I experienced Scott as a solitary man—pensive, peaceful, having a depth of soul for “Still waters run deep” a style that seemed “mystical” in some unusual way. Like Solanus was known to say: “ Thank God ahead of time” and I do, for the gift of Scott’s life.

“ Hello everyone, thank you for the opportunity to share in the memories of Scotty D, Gary Grimshaw's great friend from 'way back'. Thank you Scott, for being such a dear friend to my late husband, and to me. You will not be forgotten. I have no doubt you have been 'reunited' in spirit with Gary and the others from the 'tribe'. You were a bright light, shining in modest humility and soaking in the culture all around you. Your talent for art is obvious - I hope to see some photographs or drawings at the service this Saturday. You are dearly missed and not to be forgotten. Many blessings, now you are with God, after a good life. - Mrs. Gary Grimshaw (Laura)

“ Even though I had only known Bernard for 6 short months, he had become a very important person in my life, it was a privilege to call him my friend. He was so talented, kind and very funny. He will truly be missed!

“ My Uncle Scott was a gifted artist and historian. As an artist and art therapist myself, his life and work has been an inspiration to me throughout my lifetime. I was blessed to exchange art and letters with him in recent years, and will always treasure our connection and shared love of music and art.

“ I met Scott for the first time when he was about 19 years old. We shared conversations about Latin American books. One in particular was One Hundred Years of Solitude by Gabriel Garcia Marquez. It was his favorite book at the time. A particular moment I recall, when we talked about this book was at his parents home, just before my wedding to his brother Marc.. I was ironing clothes preparing for the wedding, and he was sitting in front of me, so excited about discussing the book with someone who had read it early on in my life in Chile. Scott was an intelligent and profoundly reflective person and a philosopher at heart.

I will miss you Scott. Maybe when we meet again.. we can pick up our book chats where we left off many years ago..

I love you..
