“ I remember Aunt Betty's laugh. It was fun to hear her laughing. After my mother died, she was very comforting to talk to and I appreciated sharing family stories with her. Two years ago when Hurricane Harvey was pouring rain on Houston, she called and asked me if everything was okay with me. I said yes, I was very lucky and safe. We chatted for a while and said goodbye. Two days later she called again and said that it looked so terrible on the tv and was I sure that I was all right. I really felt cared for when she called a second time. Dear Cousins, I hope for you that your memories of her help carry you through this sad time. Love, Mary Beth
