“ It has been hard to find the right words to tell you how sorry I am for your loss, and ours too. "Mr. Brett" as I always called him lit up my soul with his brilliant smile. God sure knew what he was doing when he gave you that precious little soul, never have a seen a child get more love and special care as he did from you all. He is missed but it does give me such joy to picture him running and laughing with the angels. We love you all so much, JoAnn and Chrissy

“ Dear Brett, I remember when Todd used to play Batman and run up and down the street with a cape in he had super powers. The whole family had super powers your Dad is a super strong man keeping up a beautiful home and caring for his family. Your Mom...What can I say she has been a super mm to everyone she has known. She was a super mom to my mom and a super friend to her and us. She was here when our family needed her most of all, even when all she had to do to keep her own family going. So Brett no wonder you had super human powers too to be with us as long as you did. You can now walk with angels and be free to be a super guardian angel to all you left behind. LOVE takes you a long way. You picked the right family to be in down here. Warm Hugs to all, Linda King-Bradley

“ Brett is now GOD'S angel.....run, jump, talk, laugh and sing all you can. Your big brother, your Mom and Dad took such great care of you. They loved you from the deepest part of their hearts and will continue to do so. They will miss you but will see you again. When I met Brett, he had the BIGGEST smile on his face, one I will never forget.
