“ Back in my early 20's I used to hang out with several of the Liggett clan, we always seemed to congregate at the house on Alicia Court. Their parents, Allen and Camilla, were always so welcoming and generous with all they had, and we felt comfortable just being ourselves there. Camilla always seemed to be genuinely concerned for our well being and interested in our lives.

Throughout the years I would occasionally run into her at the grocery store or the doctor's office and it was always a pleasure to talk to her for a few minutes and catch up, she was always so independent and full of life. Although I had not seen her for a long time, I will never forget her or her husband Allen.
