“ Please excuse me, as I mean to offend no one. I seen this in the Macomb Daily a few weeks ago and I was just writing with a quick question. My sister passed away last year at 39 from a heart attack. She had Juvinnelle diabetes. Is this a similar situation? Ever since my sister passed, whenever I see a young person pass and there obituary mentioning juvinelle diabetes, I wonder if there life was the same as hers. Again I do not want to upset anyone as I understand this is a very hard time. We were just trying to figure out if this is the average time J.D. patients. Any reply is appreciated. Heather
