“ Craig bravely endured the pain and weakness In exchange for the chance it would provide To give his body more time to fight the battle Hoping for a healing over time. Yet the purposes of eternity can't always be understood From within our earthly frame And at times death's rebirth to a life eternal Accomplishes purposes we're unable to explain. So there are times when death is allowed To take a soul fighting the valiant fight, Yet the fighter's courage and bravery isn't diminished When the outcome is death, instead of life. And family and friends are left with a deep assurance Of just how deeply they were loved ... " Our prayers are with you and your family. God be with you and bless you
