“ You were one of my oldest friends. I remember writing to you when I moved away to stay on the path of getting better and living your full potential. I still love you and wish I would've gotten the chance to tell you more while you were here. All of our lively debates and deep philosophical discussions will always be with me (with a very vivid memory of you twisting your hair at the nape of your neck) The shows we went to, the lunches at coney...I miss you everyday, I hope you finally have the peace you deserve.

“ I used to be "friends" with this person in high school, and just found out about his death now by looking him up online. I'm sorry for his family that, or at least those he didn't manipulate. But he was not a good person. He was a narcissist and somewhat of a sociopath that delighted in mentally tormenting certain people, including both me and my dad. I actually lived in caution going around Ferndale for years in fear of running into him, and although I didn't wish death on him, I'm a little morally conflicted over my relief that I'll never see him again. Sorry, but the truth has to be known. Treat other people with respect.

You are a garbage human being. I hope you get what you deserve.

“ 'm going to really miss Dan. He had a huge heart, and he loved his family. My fondest memories were taking care of him as a baby and toddler when his mom had to work. He was the sweetest child, and a man who strove to leave his mark in the world. After reading all the posts on his facebook, it is clear that he had lots of friends. I love you Dan. I hope to see you again someday.

“ *Dear Cousin Laura and Family,
I never got to know Daniel because of family distance, but I know it must be so heart breaking to lose a child of any age. I can't imagine the pain you are feeling. As you know, you will be with him again some day. Stay strong! Love you all and will see you soon. Kathy Fica Campau*
