“ I lived across the street from Deane for about 25 years. We shouted “Good Mornings” and other greetings to each other on a regular basis. He was always friendly, and always took an interest in our City and our neighborhood. Deane was a solid fixture on Halloween, making sure all the kids got their well-deserved candy, and each year he had an exact tally of how many kids trick-or-treated each year; after all, he was the bean counter! Most of all, he always had a smile on his face. Sometimes we’d have a conversation. Sometimes he would kid me about my leaves having blown over to his perfectly manicured lawn. Often, Deane would just lower his newspaper, so he could wave to me or simply say hello from his porch. He always took a minute to acknowledge me, and it was a bright spot in my day. Several years ago, I had to sell my house and I moved elsewhere in Berkley. I very much missed Deane’s daily presence since I moved. I kind of relied on his friendly face. In my new neighborhood, I have nice neighbors, but there is no Deane. If life were completely fair, every block in Berkley would have a Deane.

May you Rest In Peace and comfort.

Your Friend, Nancy Gerlach.
