“ I can't express the sorrow I feel for the loss of your mom. She was always up for late night makeovers and truth or dare in the living room when we were younger. And, when we grew up a bit, she never turned us down when "The Fam" showed up for movie night. Her house was a comfortable gathering place where we all were made to feel at home. A constant throughout most of my childhood, she treated each and every one of us as if we were her kids too and would pass on motherly advice at times when we needed it most. She will be missed more than words can say.

“ I want you to know that Ron and I are so sorry for the loss of your mother. Debbie was a very special friend and I will always treasure the many memories that I have. Playing scrabble, sitting in our hot tub and talking about everything from kids to work, watching the sunsets at our lake in West Branch. Our memorable trips to Lynda's cabin in northern Ontario and of course, Debbie always with her camera ready to catch the perfect picture. I will miss Deb's great sense of humor and her laugh. Our thoughts and prayers will be with you.

“ I am only one year younger than Deb, and I distinctly remember first meeting her in the late 1970's. Our husbands were both young attorneys with the same firm, and Deb was the one who could be counted on to call the spade the spade, no matter who else was present. On quite a number of occasions, she was a breath of fresh air in what otherwise might have been a rather stuffy atmosphere. We shared some great times and some bad, and my life was always the better for her input, insight and humor. Deb clearly was smart as a whip, always had a good heart and unquestionably loved her family to pieces. You girls were always as rambunctious as your mom, and as she would retell the latest "episode," I could always tell that she was proud as punch of you. That continued in later years, as well. She was so proud of how all of you handled her illness and the many challenges it posed to you as you pursued your own young lives. That pride followed her throughout her life. Cancer might have gotten Deb in the end, but not without a terrific fight and not without her providing a sterling example of how to live with spunk and dignity. She will be missed by all.
