“Dad, you gave to me so many tangible and intangible gifts, that listing them all here would take too much space. You taught me the love of sunsets, nature and art. Through your example, I learned to be resilient, capable and strong. I also learned to appreciate that there are many ways to show someone that they are loved, and that to let go of my own expectations frees me to receive yours more fully. I believe that is the greatest gift of all. I will carry on your legacy through my own creative expression. Thank you, dad. I love you.
