“ It is interesting how our lives lead us in different directions. Twelve years ago, circumstances led us to the house on Gerald next door to Mrs. Murray. As a result, we met a new and very dear friend who has meant the world to us ever since. We shared flowers and food but above all, a wonderful friendship. We shared many trips to different nurseries always coming home with treasures to plant. She cooked us dinner using goodies from her garden and shared stories of life past and dreams for the future. How much happier our lives have been knowing this wonderful lady and how ironic it is that we now live 2 hours from where she was born in the majestic hills and mountains of Tennessee. Our dearest Mrs. Murray, We miss you already. Jerry Beets and Earl Vernier

“ Very well said Mom. I love you. She did talk to her great grand kids about those hard times in the great depression and all three of my kids LOVED her stories. I loved all her crafts and she also taught me a lot about life. I love you mom. HUGS

“ My mother was a guardian of her home and a lover of her family. Her children and grandchildren were of most importance to her. She loved big family get togethers especially at the holidays. She made wonderful dinners for us and decorated and made each holiday special. She loved to sew and make crafts and always gave them to us and her grandchildren as special gifts. From the time my brother, Fred, my sister Barbara Gail, and I were small she told us about Jesus and read to us from the Bible. She shared with us stories about growing up during hard times like World War II and the Depression. She prayed for her brothers who served in the war and she prayed for all her family. She told of selling eggs when there was no money. She loved my father who has gone on before her. She was giving and loving and set a wonderful example for all of us to follow. I love my mother dearly and will never forget her.
