“ Erin has been in our thoughts every day this past year. Having worked with her at Mopar for several years, there are still many memories of her, her sunny personality, and that amazing smile. She was one of the most kind and compassionate people I've ever known. Let's hope the passing of time will somehow help all of us to better deal with our loss, while we keep our memories of her alive. It was a blessing to have known her, and I believe her beautiful spirit will always be with us.

“ Dear Erin, I was thinking about the day you told Dad and I that you were pregnant. You gave us a gift bag and said it was a grandparents day present from your dog, Harley. When I opened it and saw the baby bibs I didn't get it at first. Then I realized what it meant..I was so excited for you and Scott. I miss all the stories you would have told about being pregnant and about being a mother. You would have been a good one. I miss all the family times we would have had. I miss you. I love you Erin.

“ ARE YOU THERE? Misty breeze wraps about my shoulders thinly clad. I shiver not despite the coolness on my skin. Comfort I now feel Is it you my precious Angel? Are you there? I cannot hear your quiet voice But bird song fills the air From high treetops to grassy marsh I wonder-is it you Dear? Are you there? The roses in your garden bloom large And varied in hue from crimson deep to barely pink. I cup the velvet bud its fragrance soothes a troubled mind. This must be you my little girl. Are you there? Are you the fiery autumn maples Or the star-like flakes of snow? Or perhaps the warmth I feel in the sand beneath my toes? Though your quiet voice I cannot hear Nor can I see again your sparkling eyes Or feel your dainty hand laid gently on my own You are here. For memory's book will never close- Each lovely sound, or sight, or scent, Another page from special times that we have shared. Oh, yes! You are here child-everywhere!

“ Where do they go to, the people who leave? Are they still around us, in the cool evening breeze? Do they still hear us, and watch us each day? I'd like you to think of them with us that way. Where do they go to, when no longer here? I think that they stay with us, calming our fear. Loving us always, holding our hands Walking beside us, on grass or on sand. Where do they go to, well it's my belief They watch us and help us to cope with our grief. They comfort and stay with us, through each of our days Guiding us always through life's mortal maze.

“ Thanks everyone for your support and sharing. My life with Erin was too short by far, and I still find it hard to believe that she is gone. Erin was very dedicated and if she wanted something she would develop a plan to obtain it. For some reason she knew that she wanted to date me on the day that we met. When we got married she had a specific song, and a specific time in the song when we were to make our grand entrance. I still remember her holding me back, saying "Not yet" while waiting to enter the reception hall. She was so caring and always thought of others. While planning our wedding I remember her making sure that we got supplies to put into the restrooms so our wedding guests could 'freshen up'. Again, thanks for everyone's support and especially the loving support of the Baker and Allison families-- I am glad that you are now all part of my family.

“ I have been deeply moved by the supportive messages left here in memory of our remarkable and unforgettable daughter, Erin. These messages have been difficult to read at times, but they also remind me of all the unique and wonderful qualities that made Erin the extraordinary young woman she had become. Erin would come to our house often - sometimes with a "surprise dinner" that she cooked for us. We would sit and talk about important stuff, but mostly we'd sit and talk about nothing. Erin could be dramatic - which would only add to the funny stories she would tell. We'd all laugh. How I wish we could hear one more funny story from Erin - hear her laugh & see that big smile again. I can see that Erin has touched the hearts of many people & her ability to love & care about all of them seems endless. What a big heart to go with that big, big smile...and what a lucky guy I am to have been Erin's dad.

“ Dear family and friends, Thank you all so much for your kind words, thoughts, and prayers. My family and I greatly appreciate your love and support in our time of despair. We couldn't get through this without you. I'm not sure why Erin was taken from us so soon, but I've been able to see one thing clearly...this tragedy has brought us all together, which is something Erin always had the courage to do. She was the one who cooked Mother's Day brunch for the entire family every year. She was the one who invited Grandpa to her wedding, even though he is divorced from Grandma. She was the one who always wanted everyone together. And, that is exactly what she is doing now. She is bringing EVERYONE together again...old friends, distant relatives, new family members... courageous once again. For Erin's sake, let's remain together. Let's keep the connections. Let's continue remembering Erin together. Thank you again. Love, Kim Erin's sister

“ Erin and her baby were taken from Scot and all of us far too soon. I will always be impressed with Erin's thoughtful, caring intelligence and how she was dedicated to getting the job done with a bit of beauty thrown in. I especially loved her art and design and sense of color. Perhaps this was God's plan. To have Erin teach us all the preciousness of life, love and family and to always face whatever life threw at you with a humble thoughtful intelligence and with that big wide beautiful grin she always seemed to wear when she saw me and my wife. We love you more than we could ever express. When Scot and Erin came to Seattle to visit us, we were very pleased to get to know Scot better and were impressed by how they were already "a happy old married couple". Clearly they were a match made in heaven destined for a long loving wonderful life together. Love both of you so much. "Uncle" Norm and Peggy.

“ Most of you know Erin the young woman. I want to tell you a few things about Erin, my little girl. Erin was a surprise. We had two wonderful children and thought our family was complete. Erin had other ideas--she blessed us by choosing us as her family. Erin always thanked me for not letting her dad name her. Mom wanted Erin; Dad wanted Mona. Mom got baby Erin; Dad got dog Mona. She was a little girl with BIG hair, a tiny face and pink rosebud lips. On her birthday she would cry when we sang happy birthday. My little girl grew into a beautiful, loving, caring young woman. She married the love of her life, Scott, in February and was happy and excited to be expecting their first child. Erin and her baby are now together forever. Erin-I love you and miss you and will think of you everyday for the rest of my life--sometimes with tears; sometimes with laughter--but always with thankfulness that you chose me to be your mom. “ Erin was an amazing person, so sweet and kind. She had a warm spirit and has touched so many lives. She has left so many wonderful memories for all of us. Many mention her radiant smile, it is that smile that has helped me get through the last couple of days. I'm so incredibly sad but trying to remain strong for my family. Honestly, my heart is breaking for all of them. I love you all. To Erin..we love and miss you so much!

“ I dragged Scott to a singles event through The Social Connection. I didn't want to go alone. It was a bus trip to the Tiger's game and it was Erin's first Social Connection event. Scott and Erin met and were together from that day on. They had a connection right from the beginning and I couldn't have been happier for the both of them!

“ You can shed tears that she is gone, or you can smile because she has lived. You can close your eyes and pray that she'll come back, or you can open your eyes and see all she's left. Your heart can be empty because you can't see her, or you can be full of the love you shared. You can turn your back on tomorrow and live yesterday, or you can be happy for tomorrow because of yesterday. You can remember her only that she is gone, or you can cherish her memory and let it live on. You can cry and close your mind, be empty and turn your back. Or you can do what she'd want: smile, open your eyes, love and go on.....May God Bless your Family. My prayers are with you and your family..
