“ *He was like a brother to me. He and I would discuss things and many times before we knew how we would end up changing sides.
We each took the opposite side just the two of us. It was great.*

Each day another memory comes to the fore and I am once again lost.

“ To All They Lawson Family,

*I'm still at a loss for words...are there words?
He will be remembered as a great husband, father, grandfather, brother, uncle & friend who will be missed beyond measure if there is a measure for such a thing. While I wrote this for my brother when he went home...I thought it may be appropriate for my uncle as well. So though the words are no longer original they were from my heart then and they are from my heart now.*

Home

*Death is nothing but a path that leads us back to home
When I have taken my last breath from things that I have known
Though I may fear for a moment of what lies in store for me
Or the things that I will miss so much that I'll no longer see*

*And then the moment comes and goes the fear wiped from my soul
For I have seen the face of God and felt my body whole
And all the things I thought I'd miss now I know that's not true
For God has given me the sight to see the things you do.*

*I'm with you at the break of dawn, I watch you when you sleep
I hear the words you speak to me, I see you when you weep
I join in with your laughter as you remember me
I thank God for the time we had to make those memories*

*Someday you too will take the path that leads you back to home
When you will see the face of God and know what I now know
And there I'll be to take your hand your broken heart will mend
Where God gives us eternity...together once again.*

“ Tony had been blamed many for stunting the growth of our shrubs planted at the end of our driveway. He many times passed by after an evening of playing cards with us.

He always understood why Barbara and I would retreat to the porch so nobody would notice that we had been inspecting newly vacated homes in the neighborhood.

He was always there when we needed him if nothing else but to join my husband, Kirk, when he worked late and needed someone to commiserate with his hard day.

“ To the family of Everett Lawson : Please accept my sincere sympathy for the loss of your loved one. While we don't know one another, experiencing the devastation of losing a loved one is something we all face in our lives. The Bible promises a time when "death will be no more" (Rev 21:3.4) and assures us that God hears our prayers (Ps 55:22). I hope this brings you some peace during this difficult time.
