“As my girlfriend, Gay, has written, we had the unusual and pleasurable experience of Bubba inviting us into his mom's home...as complete strangers! I guess it didn't totally surprise me--- coming from a household of nine kids myself, and mom's house always being Grand Central Station! Still...And I related to Georgia's story of having what, Bubba, 5 decades of kids attending Shrine? Anyway, thank you for your hospitality that hot summer day, it was truly an experience we remember, and could only have happened with very caring people! Rest peacefully, Georgia.

“ My boyfriend, Tom, and I had the pleasure to meet Mrs. Glynn a few years back. We were biking by her home and stopped to admire what a interesting house it was. Her son, Bubba, pulled up and invited us in to show us the house and meet his mother. She was very gracious to us and even offered us a beer! We still marvel at the experience. How many people would open up their home to complete strangers? She seemed like a real treasure! Prayers to all of her family as you celebrate her life.
