“ As a friend of Jim's brother, David Brackett, I had several opportunities over the years to share time with James. Thanks to Jim's generosity, one of the most memorable times is when he, David and I took a trip to Williamsburg, Virginia. I never realized that James had graduated Albion as a history teacher. No wonder he liked to travel so much! It's hard to think that you're gone, Jim. You will not be forgotten.

“ Metropolitan United Methodist Church will miss Jim's expertise with the audio and organ recording equipment, and his optimism in overcoming the daily problems we confront.....

“ I had been an attendee of organ concerts at Metro for years. I first met Jim when I offered my promotional services to the church to promote the first Cameron Carpenter concert. Talk about an organ and sound expert. I learned so much from him about the ins and outs of organs and sound production it was crazy. Jim was a great person and a great spirit. They don't make many like him. His heart and soul are in the bedrock of Metro
