“ I apologize for the late sign in but it took me a little while to think of what to say. Your entire family was like a second family to me and treated me like I belonged. It's too bad that John was the youngest since that meant we were at the bottom of the totem pole but it's all good. My mind starts to wander and I still think of Mr. Ronan and the happy memories I have of being around him. I know that some time has passed but I hope that you realize that if you ever need something from me all you have to do is ask and John knows how to find me.

“ To the Ronan Family, My deepest sympathy in the loss of your husband and/or father. Trust me when I say I know what you are going through Chris. They tell you that it gets easier with time....well, I am still waiting for that time. All I know is that you have to carry on for the kids and the grandkids, and take comfort knowing that they are there for you. I wish I could say something that will make you all feel better, but there are truly no words to say. The sun comes up tomorrow and you have to live each day to its' fullest. It isn't going to be easy, but life does go on. I love you all! God bless! Linda
