““Little Mama”, I was so sad and shocked to hear about Jay's death this morning when I came to work. It's hard to wrap my head around this-I can barely imagine how you can. Just know that your St. John family loves you and is very concerned about you and the boys. There hasn't been much else talked about today. I know how strong you are and you will get through the next few, very hard, days with the help and support from all of your friends and family. You, Evan and Braden-Boy will be in my thoughts and prayers. Take care, Cara.

“ This morning when I found out about Jason's passing my mind just couldn't grasp the concept. Immediately, my heart was heavy with grief knowing all too well the pain that Frankie and Deanna have already endured with the loss of a son. I could barely breathe, knowing in part, the pain a death causes and that they would have to go through this one more time. BUT KNOW THIS...you are loved! You are thought of by many and prayers are reaching to heaven in your behalf. You raised two wonderful sons who are finally together in Heaven. We miss them both...and smile knowing they are in the arms of each other.
