“ Wow so many memories in the past year and a half from being with Jen. I guess a favorite memory was the times we spent taking walks at the beach. She loved the sun and would spend every moment she could soaking up the Rays. Then after I told her she was getting burnt. She didn't believe me until we went to sleep and could turn over cause she was so sore. I put aloe on her and she says I still don't think I got enough sun lol but Jen u are red as an apple lol

Just spending every moment was always a memory and I will and will continue to miss her always. So Jen as we always seen that butterfly on the porch in the morning. Now I will be waiting for another one. I love you always baby.
