“ Bub, There was a death at Dondero and they are having the services when we had yours. How hard it must be for that family. My heart still breaks when I think about you. My heart hurts thinking about picking out your casket and seeing you lay there in the same suit as you wore to my wedding just months earlier. You were not only my best friend but were also my big brother. I still think about you everyday. You should be here to see my children but I know you are watching from above. I love you so much bubbe.. Its been years but I still have tears streaming from my face. I smile when thinking about all the happiness we spent together but cry for all the times we should have shared. I love you!! Your sister.
