“ All, that is left of life, is the memory of a person's good deeds, during his or her life-time. John was kind, honest, straightforward, and a decent human being. He truly believed in the existence of God. John will continue to live in my heart, so that I can keep relaying his message of good will, to each and every person, I come in contact with. Thanks! “ John was well loved by all. I loved when he was my patient. That smile just lit up the room and he always laughed at my really bad jokes. He will always be in my heart. I will really miss him. My prayers are with you.

“ John and I were classmates at Orchard Lake, and roommates for two years. If there was ever a definition of a "good guy," John was it. I remember John as funny, intelligent, and analytical. He could say more with just facial expressions than anyone I ever met. At our 40th class reunion, my wife left the reunion so John and I could room together again. He wanted to hear how our life was going, and he wanted to talk about what was happening in his. We just walked around the campus well into the night. Not too long ago, we spent a day together in Marine City just talking and enjoying each other's company--Good Memories. Till we meet again, John, Ken

“ John was my landlord, my employer, my teacher, in not only antiques-but in life-as well as being my friend. We certainly could debate and had our differences, but John always put up a challenge when I happened to disagree with him; which was often, however he always let me voice my opinion-why stop now?! Lots of laughs and some tears in thinking about him and how much knowledge he retained and taught to others. He was always up for a meal...his favorite food was FREE food! He gave me a chance when I needed a job and I hope I never let him down. Even when he allowed my twin girls to run around in the warehouse, he'd just sit down and have "tea" with Sydney! It was so tender. I used to tease him because when you'd ask how he was doing, and he was without fail, "tremendous", which became his favorite word to my many questions. Rest in Peace my friend. Sincerely, Ellen

“ John and I were classmates at St. Marys of Orchard Lake. I remember John we called him Goldie as a nice fellow who put up with all of us. I remember Mark Dzwonkowski hitting a putter on John's bed while John was in it. He was just missing John's legs and then, he accidentally hit one of John's legs and there was this look of shock on John's face. The chase followed and Mark got his due. Love and Prayers "Eternal rest grant unto John and let perpetual light shine upon him." Tom
