“ I was playing with Kim and Karen at the Harper Woods home. We were all upstairs and at that time, they were installing fiberglass. I ate a small piece if (something) ?? that reminded me of pink cotton candy. So, after I ate it, I asked Mrs. Robertson exactly what the stuff was I ate upstairs. She replied "fiberglass" . "fiberglass", I said, yes fiberglass, Mrs Robertson replied..It is made out of glass like on this window. Oh, I said---I told her I ate a piece of it---nothing happened though. I still occasionally remember this and laugh.

“ Dear Mom Robertson,

Thank you for rescuing me off the back fence when my pants would get stuck on the way over to see Billy. Thank you for your generous smile when I'd ask you daily for a band-aid after climbing that same fence. Thank you for laughing at the stunts Billy, John and I pulled - even if it meant turning your back while you knew we were up to no good.

I'll always remember you.

Thank you Mrs. R for all the Holidays ,laughing and love you gave to me all these years . I will forever have you in my heart. You even included me in the scolding's! and all the craziness, my most favorites was Mr R would make white Russians and we had white castle after we all picked out the Christmas tree each year. That's family! I know Mr R and Charlie will greet you in heaven. Sweet dreams Mrs R.
