“ Jude you were one of the greatest friends ive ever had. I remember going to that football game. And the animal shelter, even though we never did get called back to volunteer. Spending almost 3 hours at oakland mall with the puppies. You packing your truck full and me my car at 10 at night so i could move out of that horrible apartment. You trying to start a bon fire on fourth of july last year and singing your eyebrows and hair. God I miss youre silly happy self. Last time I saw you we were at a bar just having a good time with some friends. Coming home after being gone for a year to find out youre gone now....is just so confusing for me. I wish we could pick up where we left off. You were an amazing soul. I will never forget you jude. I can't believe this happened. Im so sorry for your families loss. I hope they are healing.

“ Here is a copy of a letter written by Joanna and her mom, July 29, 2007 Sunday.

Jude,

Joanna and her mom are writing this letter to you. How was the bus ride from Shrine Grade School up to CYO Boys Camp? We understand that the bus ride is 2 hours. After meeting with the camp staff and being assigned a cabin and a bed, we hope you got settled in. You are probably near Lake Huron or it's inland lakes. Your days will be busy with hiking and crafts and nature and night stories around the campfire.

Joanna likes to pretend having real night campfires with marshmallows. She is attending a weekly reading program this summer and reviewing 2 letters (i.e. m and f) and their sounds a week. She also has swimming lessons on Saturday mornings.

Have a good week. See you in August at Aunt Carmel's and Grandpa Jack's birthday party.

Love Cousin Joanna.

PS Write back if you want to reply.

“ More a reflection on Jude's personality.

He loved animal, all kinds of animals and was pictured on Facebook in August holding a large snapping turtle.

He was an outdoorsman and an adventurer. He was not afraid of heights that went beyond a one story building.

And he was a risk taker and often rode to work on his motorcycle.

Jude we will always remember you for who you were and God will remember you for who you are yet to become.💕💕

“ My husband John reminded me of a memory with Jude and Joanna at Greenfield Village. It was Joanna's 5th year birthday in April of 2007 and we picked up Jude and took him to the Greenfield Village. We road on Thomas Tank Engine Train all around the Village. Then we walked through the outdoor Museum and saw the Metal Smith Workers and Candle Makers and visited Noah Webster's House. Later we got some hot dogs and John bought Jude a small toy. Joanna enjoyed the companionship of her cousin Jude on her birthday. Thank you for rekindling the memory of Jude.

“ We first met our sons' uncle Jude the day Caleb was born. This photo was in November 2000 when Nicole, Therese and Jude came to our house to visit. Both Caleb and Kyler enjoyed the times they got to hang out with Jude. We just saw him at our sons' funeral a few weeks ago and at the funeral home. This is just unreal. Too much tragedy in one family. I pray they're all with eachother, with other family members who passed before them.

“ I'm so sad. Jude was such a big part of my daughter's life. I loved him and always thought he would be a part of the family some day. Prayers to his family and friends. I will remember his gentle smile, his hearty appetite and all the things he did for Anne. RIP Jude, we will miss you.

“ The world has lost a truly beautiful soul. Jude was kind hearted, reflective, thoughtful, and he exuded a joyful presence. One of my last conversations with him was phenomenal as he told me all about his love of health and consequent interest in developing an organic juice startup. I was left feeling so excited for his future knowing he was going to be part of doing great things for his circle and community. I also have memories of seeing photos of him in a Scottish kilt. I wish I could have talked to him more about this and how our family- especially his cousin- has long desired to travel to the Scottish Highlands. Jude, you're missed, loved, and deeply cherished. You'll remain in our thoughts, hearts, and prayers as long as we live. May the angels bring you to rest alongside those who've passed before you- your dad, grandparents, cousin, nephews, and friends. May the Lord bless you and may perpetual light shine upon your soul. Sending love and prayers, aunt Carmel and family ❤️🙏
