

Judy Milam Mason

June 13, 1947 - May 9, 2020

Judy Milam Mason, age 72, died May 9, 2020 in Warren. She was born on June 13, 1947 in Cartersville, GA to Doris Davis and James Milam. While living in Chicago, early in her career as a biologist, Judy worked within the medical field developing medical products. Later she moved to Midland and was employed by Dow and Dow Corning. She traveled the world presenting conferences to major corporations. She married Patrick and the couple were avid boaters and spent many enjoyable days and nights on their boat, Shenanigans, docked at Bay Harbor. Upon retirement, Judy and Patrick moved to Alabama where, as traditional Roman Catholics, they attended St. Benedicts Church in Laceys Spring. Animals played a significant part of Judy's life, riding horses while living in Chicago, raising a Kerry Blue terrier, a bouvier and a shiatsu poodle mix named Sammy. Always the tolerant mother, she learned how to feed and handle a 5' long red rat snake, belonging to her daughter, Jamie.

Beloved wife of Patrick. Loving mother of Jamie Hughes.
