“Julie was a rare childhood friend who feels like family. Our friendship is rooted in long summers of neighborhood play, shared birthdays and teenage afternoons of music, homework and boardgames. My first dog was a puppy from her dog's litter and I still play backgammon on the board she gave me in high school. Julie was always a dependably honest, trustworthy and good natured friend. Reunions over the years have always been seamless and full of laughter. I have known Julie as long as I can remember and that's how long I will miss her. My heartfelt condolences go to her brothers and sisters: Paul (and Sue, of course), Elaine, Annie and Larry.”
