“ I realize that I don't know you personally, however, after reading about the loss of your beloved June in the newspaper, I felt compelled to share with you a few encouraging words. My children are fortunate to have both sides of their grandparents still with them so I can imagine the pain and sadness that overfills your heart and your family's at this time. I was so moved by her beautiful picture I saw in the paper, particularly her smile. It is obvious that she was a good natured, kind, sweet, person, qualities that God really appreciates. In the gospel of John chapter 5 and verses 28 and 29 it sates that soon" ...all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out..." We should remember that God who is the Creator of all life can remember our dead loved ones and He is ready to restore them to life. Reading comforting words as the ones in the above scripture have provided much comfort and encouragement for my family during times like these. I hope this provides hope and comfort for your family.
