“ I love you. Wish I could be with you just to give you all a hug and let you know I'm with you in spirit. We all have great memories--but cannot be sad for her now that she is finally at peace. We're sad for you just because you have to go through this ordeal. But, as we felt when we lost our parents, : it's okay, they are at peace and we have no "if-onlys". We/You did whatever possible to make her last days as comfortable as they could be. She's at rest--and you all need too accept that and feel you've done your best. She may be up there giving me a few of her "special" words or gestures right now--but that's okay. We loved her and laughed with and at her--and it was all okay. Love you all, Anne
