Kathleen was a dedicated and hardworking individual who spent 34 years of her life working at Oakland University in university services. She was well-respected by her colleagues and made a lasting impact on the university community. Kathleen was also a docent at Meadow Brook Hall, where she shared her love of history and architecture with visitors from all over the world. One of Kathleen's greatest passions was the greenhouse at Meadow Brook Hall, and she was an active member of their garden club. She loved spending time tending to the plants and watching them grow. “ Kay was always a joy to be around! As a volunteer captain at Meadow Brook Hall, I always enjoyed seeing her and talking to her about our common interests. She had a truly giving nature and shared her many stories and memories with us. Her great disposition and smile has and will be missed.

“ When I worked the front desk and had the task of calling volunteers to do shifts for events, Kay always said yes. She was at the top of my list of volunteers to call. Even a last minute call had her springing into action to be at an event. Will miss you Kay,

“ As a captain at Meadowbrook hall I had the personal privilege to work with Kay many times over the years. Her love of Oakland university and Meadowbrook was tremendous. We always enjoyed her stories and knowledge of Meadowbrook . I particularly remember when she told me the story of how she and professor stamps were the first 2 to go into Meadowbrook after the death of Matilda. Her knowledge of the hall made me a better captain. Ironically I was thinking of her a couple of weeks ago remembering that day when we were working at Meadowbrook together and she told me she was going to be moving away and no longer would be volunteering at Meadowbrook It was a sad day to learn that we wouldn't be seeing her smiling face and working with her. Thank you Kay for being a wonderful friend and person. May you rest in peace

“ I was lucky enough to meet Kay early in my time at Meadow Brook Hall. I spent many hours with her in the MBH Gift Shop and was totally engrossed in her stories of being one of the first to see MBH after Matilda had passed. Kay was kind and always willing to help.

She is missed.
