“ It is painful to watch a loved one suffer and even more painful when they have fallen asleep in death. God’s Word acknowledges that our heart can be broken and crushed. Ps. 51:17 BUT, God is certainly able to deal with this situation, for he is healing the brokenhearted ones, and is binding up their painful spots. Ps. 147:3 I hope that you are able to take comfort in knowing that God has made us wonderful promises at John 5:28, 29 and Rev. 21:3, 4 and God always keeps his promises.

“ Words seem so insufficient to express what one's heart really wants to say. May Kim's family and friends know the comfort that only the Holy Spirit can give. It is truly an honor to have known Kim in these more recent years. Our friendship was brief in comparison to many others, but Kim set a wonderful example for me of a woman who really believed in the Scripture Romans 8:28a - "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God". Instead of allowing her illness to bring anger or bitterness to her heart, she trusted in the Lord and saw good come from her circumstances. Kim is not gone as some may think of it, but rather, as my husband says, she just "has a change of address". Evidently, the Lord had finished her mansion and it was time for her to move there. She was "willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. II Corinthians 5: Kim will be greatly missed and remembered with love. Sincere condolences in Jesus Christ our Lord. Mary M.

“ I am so sorry to read about the loss of Kimberly and I wanted to extend my condolences to your family. We are encouraged by the fact that God knows and feels our pain. We are encouraged to "throw our burdens on him and he will sustain us" Psalm 55:22. Although there are tears of grief today, God promises a joyful tomorrow without death, mourning, pain, tears or sorrow Revelation 21:4. He also promises a resurrection to life for our loved ones who have died John 5:28,29.
