“ Krys was a light that always shined. Her faithfulness to God and her sharing of the gospel were definitely a gift. I always knew that whether we were in desperate need of prayer or just living out our lives, Krys was praying for us. I know she prayed daily for all of our family along with so many others. Her kind heart and beautiful smile along with her hugs will be missed. Not a day will go by that we won't be waiting to see her out in the yard. She always had a smile on her face and a kind word. We were so blessed to live next to Krys and Will for the past 22 years. I know the angels trumpet sounds were heard as Jesus welcomed her to the Kingdom of God. We will always miss her, but are comforted knowing she is now home.

We are praying for family and friends to have comfort and understanding at this time.

*Love,
Mark and Wend Poole*

“ Krys and Willy have always been faithful greeters at church with words of encouragement, kindness, and love. Krys was a prayer warrior when Larry was sick with cancer Krys prayed faithfully for us and since Larry went home to be with our Lord in Jan. has prayed faithfully for me. I know Jesus the lover of her soul welcomed her into Heaven along with many others. I am so sorry for your loss she will be missed. God Bless, Shari Martin

“ Beautiful tribute by our Pastor:

Pastor Hal Bringer

“Tears”

I have thought a lot about tears today, And honestly have been at a loss of what to say. Tears I've learned are a language from our eyes, Like spring time rain drops that fall from the sky.

Tears reveal many things from ones soul. Without words they speak volumes you know. Heartbreak, laughter, anguish, and pain, a language of your heart without any shame. The purest tears that I have ever known, Are tears of love that are faithfully sown.

Shed through life, in trials, and cares, especially in the sweet hour of prayer! Tears of love know no boundaries or shame, When you see a face or simply whisper a name. A purer fountain one could never know, Tears of love that continually flow.

I'll look through tears and clearly see, The value of love between you and me. Our Journey, our paths, and how we have grown, And cherish the treasures that we have known.

I see much clearer because of love, The Master Plan revealed from above. For He too shed tears for you and I, Upon a cross for us He would die. Tears of love that the world could not see, A well spring of grace falling upon you and me.

A language of love so precious and pure, An anthem of passion that would be our cure. Don't be ashamed to let tears flow, Just release them and let others know. That in your heart you have beyond measure, A love so true that is your richest treasure.

(In loving memory of Krys Griffith)
