“ Husband, Father, Grandfather The strength of a husband, the lifetime of memories shared. The quiet times together, and showing he loved and cared. As two became a family his father's pride showed. Supporting his family through the years, day by day. Watching them grow to become themselves. Encouraging them to be their best and sheltering them from the world's worst as best he could. As the children became families with kids of their own, his role of a grandfather was known. Taking time to enjoy simple things and the wonders of the world through the eyes of a grandchild. Spending time together just doing nothing much, or working on something special together. Hugs and smiles and sharing the knowledge that came with age. All these things are what makes him so special and all the memories are held close in the heart forever. Written in honor of Lawrence Lennartz for his family By Lisa Sutphen
