“ My mom was one of the sweetest, kindest, most loving, stubborn, hard headed woman I've ever known. But through all of that she was the greatest mom she always put me first and did anything she had to, to make sure I had everything I needed. She would do anything for anyone. In always gonna remember my mom and all the great things she has done. I pray that I am half the greatest mom and woman that she is. I love you mom and miss you more then anything. You will forever be in my heart

“ To the family of Linda Stockten: Please accept my sincere sympathy for the loss of your loved one. She sounds like such a gem and someone I would love to have met. Even though we don't know each other, experiencing the devastation of losing a loved one is something we unfortunately all face in our lives. I lost my aunt and dear friend not long ago. Something that helped us is knowing the Bible promises a time when "death will be no more" (Rev 21:3.4) and it assures us that God hears our prayers (Ps 55:22). I hope this brings you some peace during this difficult time.

“ Yes, it is truly sad that Mary and I have lost a sister and sister-in-law. Losing a family member is hard, especially at a young age. However, we have already been able to start our healing process, actually starting the day she had her heart attack. Our family came together at the hospital and began sharing stories amongst one another. We were able to reminisce our childhood days. I sat there looking at Melinda and Kirk as they listened attentively to our stories. Watching Melinda smile and Kirk tell us stories we haven't heard, helped us all. My sister was very unique, she was the third most stubborn person on planet earth, behind my dad and grandmother. Some of our memories we shared in the hospital included frozen chickens, chicken gizzards, using frozen candy bars as a weapon, letting Melissa sleep in Linda's bed, slow gin and or drinking Annie Green Spring/Boone's Farm. Please feel free to share your stories you may have regarding Linda, it truly does help in the healing process.
