“ Lorna and I used to go on "heirloom hunts". We'd dig up flowers at abandoned places and bring them home. There's a beautiful iris that I've shared with others called "Wabash", an heirloom introduced in 1936. Took 12 years before I found out what it was called. I'll always think of Lorna whenever it's in bloom.

“ My deepest sympathy goes to Janet and all other family members on the loss of a beautiful mother. I know she had to have been wonderful to have raised such a special person as Janet.
