“ It was always a joy of mine to be in her presence or to visit her. She had such a contagious laugh, incredible sense of humor and was so responsive to prayer and the Word of God when I would read it with her. She loved coloring with her pens too and a couple of times I went out and bought some coloring books and pens for her and then went back to her room. I am going to sincerely miss her. Our times at Sonseekers were special too at the Crecelius home.
