Matilda was a great gardener. I spent many weekends over her house with Teresa in my early teens. Mrs. Taylor always had words of wisdom to sow. She would take us to church and she made sure we were baptized. She sowed the seeds, and yes, maybe someone else watered - but I thank God for those days. Although she will be dearly missed, I have peace knowing she is with the Lord looking down on us with great joy in her heart. This is the hymn that is on my mind. One day we shall all see him as he is. I hope other people share their favorite hymns as they think of her. My thoughts and prayers are with you, Teresa, and family - Lisa P.S. sorry this posted twice
