

Mavis Palmer

June 6, 1941 - August 1, 2021

Celebrating the Life of Mavis Matilda Palmer
Sunrise June 6, 1941 - Sunset August 1, 2021

Mavis was born on June 6, 1941 in John's Hall District, in the Parish of Manchester, Jamaica to the late Joseph Dillon Palmer and Adlyn Christie Palmer. Mavis was the sixth of ten children. She was the mother of Sonia (Joan) Morgan, and Kaliff Palmer, who both preceded her in death.

As part of the body of Christ, Mavis was confirmed at the Nazareth Moravian Church in Manchester, Jamaica and attended the Nazareth All Ages School. After completing formal education in Manchester, Mavis moved to Kingston to pursue a career in the hospitality industry. In 1970, Mavis migrated to Detroit, Michigan, where she was a homemaker before being employed at Providence Hospital in Southfield, Michigan; she retired from there after 35 years of service. While at Providence Hospital, she formed a deep bond with several co-workers, resulting in long-lasting friendships.

During her early years in Detroit, Mavis was involved with the Jamaican West Indian Association where she participated in promoting and organizing cultural awareness events; this included the blending of other Caribbean Nations. These cultural activities allowed her to establish a wide circle of friends from all over the Caribbean and Canada. Celebrating Jamaican culture with food, music, and dance was a regular past time. One of the things Mavis enjoyed as a member of the Association was attending Cricket matches at Belle Isle Park in Detroit. Mavis' many interests included her daily ritual of completing crossword puzzles, watching National Geographic, enjoying the Nutcracker Ballet during Christmas, and listening to Gospel music. She also enjoyed her many trips overseas, including but not limited to the Caribbean, Canada, and Europe.

Mavis' love for her family was second only to her love for the Lord. She was an active member of St. Timothy's Methodist Church for almost 40 years. She was a choir member, usher, and volunteer for St. Timothy's congregation, and was a humble servant of the Lord.

She worked tirelessly to ensure that her children had what they needed. Her grandchildren, David (Shawn) and Samantha were the apples of her eye and filled the space in her heart after the loss of her own children. She never missed any of her grandchildren's school activities, attending all award ceremonies, recitals and performances. She loved her only great-grandson, Jayson, who was her "little man". She knew there was no better place to be than with the ones you love and that love you the most.

On the early morning of Sunday, August 1, 2021, Mavis transitioned peacefully in her home surrounded by her adoring family. She was deeply cared for by her niece, Theasia (Heather) Morris, and long-time family friend, Ann (Jane) Small, during the last few years of life. Her legacy will be forever cherished by her grandchildren David (Shawn) Morgan; grand-daughter Samantha Guyah (Jared); and great-grandson, Jayson Guyah (Samantha and Jared); sisters, Lucille Morris, Daphne Cowan, Cissylin Smith, and Beverlee Palmer; brother, Wesley Palmer (Alberta); and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, family friends, and she will always be known to each and every one of us as Aunt Mavis.

“ Dearest Aunt Mavis. Memories of the many summers spent with you Joanne and Kaliff in Detroit and the many visits you made to Toronto over the years is what is keeping me going at this time. Praying that you are resting in paradise with your loved ones that have gone before us. I will forever cherish the memories we made as a family together over the years. You are one of the most beautiful, loving, giving, stoic and selfless people I have ever met and you deserve your rest aunty. Until we meet again! Rest in power xo

“ I worked with Mavis at Providence hospital. I used to refer to her as my work Mom. She took me under her wings and so graciously looked out after me. Her smile would always warm my heart and her big hugs always comforted me. She was so proud of her children and her grandchildren. I was always so amazed by her strength and her ability to always smile even in the face of adversity. Rest well Mom and may you fly with the angels.

Aunt Mavis, gone but not forgotten. You have always been, one of my favourite aunts. Although I haven't seen you since your last trip to the UK, the memories will always be there.

May you rest in eternal peace.

My memories of my cousin Mavis goes back to our school days at Nazareth Primary School. She was always kind and generous to me. I can remember her quiet demeanor and her lovely smile. A few years ago we spoke and it was a delight to reconnect. May you sleep in perfect peace Mavis.
