“ I will miss your company, your deep observations, your great sense of humor, your soft voice, your quick smile, your willingness to share your life, even though you were a private person, your concern for others. Most of all, I will miss you. Book Club will not be the same.

“ Lissa, I miss you. As one of my closest friends, your passing leaves a empty space in my life.

“ Dearest Lis, Perhaps the greatest lesson and heartache you taught us was that some of us have a shorter journey here than others. Your journey was much too short and for that, you have taught me to appreciate each and every moment with those whom I love dearly. I am so thankful for the time we spent together and forever saddened that those times together have ended. The only solace I have is that you are finally at peace. May you fly with the angels in heaven I know you will take care of all the kitties for me there!
Love, Emily

“ Dear Ms. Lissa, I was, and I still am in shock on what had happened to you. I am very sad and you were one of my faveorites of all of my parents friends. I will never forget you because there is a special place in my heart, like other people where you exist.

“ Hello Lis, I still am in disbelief and shock. Few people will truly understand how much I will miss you but I know you do!! The first day we ever met on that lovely Fokker 70 and your first words to me were, "Where's Jan?!" I thought who in the world is this crazy lady. But it only took a very short time of me watching you interact with the passengers and the kindness you put forth to them to realize this is someone special. Pretty much from that day on our friendship grew. From the many trips together doing crosswords the whole way to Santa Ana and back or the days in Louisville just hanging out we developed a friendship that was to never be broken. The great times we had at High Kicker and Boomer's dancing the night away and the country concerts at Pine Knob or the Hoe Down will be memories I will cherish forever - and will miss my dance parter immensely. I can't begin to mention all the wonderful memories I have of you but in the seven years I've known you I gained one of the greatest friendships I will ever know. I'm so glad I got to tell you not that long ago what you mean to me and the special person that you were. You made the world a better place in so many ways. Thank you for helping make me a better person. There will be a hollow place in my heart for a very long time. I love you and will miss you always. - Keith

“ Dearest Lis, How hard it is for us to say goodbye to one of our favorite friends. We are confident that you will be in good company with your mother who loved you so much. Your friendship has been a blessing to our family in so many ways. I'm glad we got to tell you, and that you knew how much we loved you. Even though my heart is aching right now, I will always treasure the fun times we had together. Playing "name that tune" on our long flights together was something I will always remember. You were the Queen of the Tunes, hands down. Nobody can quote the lyrics of the 70's pop music like you, my dear friend. Whenever a new "chick flick" would arrive at the theaters, you and I were bound to be a date! Thank you too, for being my bowling partner when Steve was away. Your lucky bowling ball always made our game scores go up! You've made a huge impact on our lives, Lissa Chase. You will be remembered for being a kind and loving friend. Miss you so much, Steve and Wendy Paver
