“ I've known Mike for 8 yrs. Wow, can't bring myself to say, "I knew ". Too much. It seems so very surreal and empty right now. But he is looking down upon his family. Addiction is a real disease. He had a disease that won the battle. I know first hand, I suffered from an addiction to painkillers, but now am clean for 4 yrs! He told me he wanted to be a drug counselor. He enjoyed going to his meetings and helping others. He would be driving anywhere and stop, in a snow storm to help a person jumpstart their car. He had a very big HEART. I remember the 1st time I took Lexi to her very first concert. The Jonas Brothers! She went with my daughter and I. He was such an overprotective, loving Dad. My Prayers go out to the family. May God Heal your Hearts and your Minds, through Jesus Christ.....

“ I did not know Michael very well, other than through how highly my friend Rosie spoke of him, but I have known him for almost 20 years and always was such a nice guy. He helped me out on one occasion years ago and was very sweet to keep me updated when his mom had her recent surgery. He will be greatly missed and taken way to soon. My condolences to his family. Rest in heaven, Michael.
