“ I miss my older brother, Mike, and the long walks and long conversations we had.
He was a reluctant draftee into the Army in 1966. He felt obliged to duty and paid mightly for it during the 1968 Tet Offensive.
I miss him.

TET 1968 was hard on him. He lived with the scar the remainder of his life. My brother was a brave and good man in a bad war. I love and miss him more than I can say.
