“ I went to law school with Mike. I remember him as sarcastic and blunt, but more than that I remember that these qualities did not obscure his decency and kindness. I can imagine (remember!) him flatly telling me I'm wrong about something, or calling an idea of mine stupid, or saying something that made me angry, but I can't imagine him not being there for me when I needed him. He helped me through some hard times. So as not to caricature him as ornery, I want to add that he was more often than not jovial and funny, a person I was always happy to sit down with in the dining hall, a person I was glad to see, a person whose insight I valued.

“ "The nicest Ohio State fan I've ever met" - Mike was one of the smartest and funniest people I have ever met and we spent countless hours talking sports both in person and remotely when we didn't live so close together over the past several years. I will miss his opinions, sarcastic humor and just generally being a good friend to talk to. My heartfelt condolences go out to Elise and his friends and family. He will be greatly missed by many.

“ Mike and I met in law school and we quickly realized we saw the world similarly. We would trade headlines and political scuttlebutt we thought was amusing and have a good laugh about it. His acerbic wit always framed things just right and it was a delight to talk to him. I will miss him. My heartfelt condolences go out to Elise and all of his loved ones.

“ My condolences to Mike's fiancée and his entire family. I worked with Mike at the Detroit Hearing Office a few years back. His office was right next door to mine. I enjoyed his humor, impromptu opera singing, and various character voices (we had very thin walls!). He was always making people laugh, and always made his presence known! He was a joy to be around and will be greatly missed.

“ I worked with Mike at the Detroit Social Security office. He had an extraordinary wit and a gift for legal writing. My deepest condolences to Mike's family as you mourn the loss of such a spark of brightness in this world. May God grant you comfort and peace.

“ I worked with Mike for about 2 years at the SSA office in Detroit. We started there together on the very same day. My deepest condolences to Mike's family and friends for this immense loss. Mike was kind, intelligent, thoughtful, and he always found a way to make us laugh. I always knew when Mike was walking down the hallway and would pass my office, as he would make a funny noise or a funny face to let me know of his presence. May God rest his soul and provide strength and comfort to his family. You will all be in my prayers.

“ I'm so sorry to hear of Mike's passing and my heart felt condolences go out to Elisse, the love of his life, and his family. I met Mike as we started a new career together and trained extensively in St. Louis. I looked forward to sitting on the bus with Mike and attending seminars. He made the job that much more enjoyable and interesting. He always made me laugh with his quick wit and quirky personality. He was such a kind soul and we became fast friends, for our love of music and comedy. After training with Mike I could tell how incredibly intelligent he was. He was always well spoken and had the latest on all the current events and of course the Cleveland statistics. I always knew when Mike was coming down the hall, as I'd hear his chirping, to let us know he was coming to say hi. When we began teleworking Mike and I shared an office. The world has lost a very loving, kind, intelligent, talented, and funny young man. May his soul live eternal.
