A tribute from Meredith and Blair:

"We called her "Meme," she was more than just a grandma; she was a master of creativity and fun. Her intricate cross-stitches were like little masterpieces, each one reflecting her love and patience. To mention just a few of our favorite memories - we loved how she was always supporting my mischief, especially the time I (Meredith) locked my brother and cousin out of her house during a summer stay. While they were outside, I nibbled on her specialty cookies, feeling like the luckiest kid in the world.

Oh, and then there was the famous clothesline game- which let the record show, I (Meredith) always won!

Meme's house was a wonderland of delights and surprises, not least of which was her "biggest invention of all time"-the legendary laundry chute that sent clothes straight down to the laundry room. I thought it was pure magic.

Meme was a boss; she knew how to get things done and made everyone feel special in the process. She was the best grandma ever, and I will deeply miss her presence, laughter, and love."

“ We were dear friends since 5th grade at Longfellow Elementary School. We were always cooking up ways to have fun. We knew everything about each other . I could always count on her for support and encouragement. We laughed our way through Jane Addams Jr.High and Royal.Oak Dondero High School. We each had three children and they were all about the same age. There is such an emptiness in my heart now. I will love you forever my dear friend. Hope to see you again.

Betty, the friendship you and my grandma had was a special one. Thank you for coming to visit her and tell her that you love her. I know she loved to see you. The memories you had warmed my heart, and I have thought about them often. I wish there were more to be made. I'm grateful Meme had a friend like you. Xoxo
