“ I miss your face, your laugh, and your humor. I miss you at dinner. I miss you inviting us out and dipping before the bill came 🤔but those are just physical. I feel you with us daily. I remember when you and Grammy held my hand at the hospital during contractions and was afraid to swear, especially cause you brought Brother Gary...(what is one more? Lol) but I said them anyways. You never tried to make me feel bad for who I was. Thank you for loving me just as I am. Never asking for me to change or to be more, only for more chicken and dumplings and corn bread. I do hear you. I do feel you. I only have to close my eyes and I see you. I love you and thank you. Pitching pennies, hand & foot, and you never shied away from playing restaurant with me. You will always hold the place if my #1 customer. I hope you know how much I love you and how much you meant to me. You are not gone and never forgotten. Just...invisible, but still with me. Thanks for being my fun Papaw.

Please haunt away, just try not to scare the waitress with the blue dress. ❤️

*All my love,
Sarah*

“ My condolences and prayers to your family. I only knew you through your daughter and Rick and the example you set for them. And in that I would say, "Well done!"

“ Dad, I thank you for giving me the gift of your precious daughter's hand 44 years ago, for raising and caring for her. We are both grateful for the blessing you have been in our life. You continue to live in our memory always, and we look forward when we shall gather on God's golden shore and rejoice together.

“ I grew up with Uncle Norman and Aunt Mollie. They were the only Uncle and Aunt that lived by us and that we spent every holiday with. Uncle Norman was lost when Aunt Molly died and now he is with her again along with his brothers and sisters who passed away before him. I know that he is in a better place, but he will be missed by all who new him well.
