“ Yesterday 15 years ago we were standing together on the beach at Lake Tahoe saying our wedding vows. I watched the wedding video yesterday. I think/dream of you and love you every day. Please stay close and watch over Nikki. It seems I've loved you all my life. I miss you deeply and I'll love you forever.

“ My Husband, Yesterday was five years since I lost you. Not a day, not an hour goes by when I don't think of you and miss you terribly. I'm ok, all things considered. I have Chaz and my family and friends, but I still struggle with no longer having you. I have our memories. Most of the time, we did it really well. We had fun and lots of the closeness and adventure that we both always wanted so much. Of late, I struggle with the time wasted on the some of the stupidity of life. I knew there was no way around the pain/anxiety of your illness. I think we especially you did that aspect of those 13 years with the brave dignity to continue to enjoy life. I resent so much the other pain that we let in from things around us. We knew our time together was short. We should have found a way to not let that pain touch us so much. I will work hard to stay with the times we did it best and you will forever be my heart and sole. I Will Love You Forever, Susan

“ Dear Bob, Many of the condolence/memories that loved ones wrote seemed to have been deleted somehow. I need to write again... It has been 1,542 days. I can't believe how much I miss you. Life is so much harder without your support, humor, wisdom and love. I always feel that a part of me is missing. You are irreplaceable. I love the memories of the wonderful times and even the not so wonderful when you went home to your mom, etc, etc, etc,... You have another grandson that I know is painful to miss out on. They say he looks a bit like you. Chaz cherishes the memories he has of papa. You would be so proud of who Chaz is. You had an important part in who he has become. I'm so sorry that Max missed out but I know he will learn about what a wonderful man his grandpa was from Emily and others. I will love you forever. Please stay close and take care of Nikki. Love, Susan

“ Bob, I'd like to think that like Celine Dion's song "My Heart Will go On", our friendship will go on, at least in my memory. I'm so grateful for the times we've shared. I'll always think of you and Sue as the consummate couple. Good luck my friend, I know your out there somewhere in the Cosmos wth Carl Sagen. We'll always have Tahoe and White Christmas and ... Cass will never forget the distinction you pointed out between chastity and celibacy. In fact if he had known you in the 70's he'd be a priest today! God Bless. Roxanne

“ Uncle Bob, I will never forget my fourth birthday party when you dressed up as Barney for me. That was by far the best birthday I had. I will always miss you being Santa every Christmas. The happiness you brought to the kids in our family was amazing. I will always love and remember you. Love, Abby

“ I have never seen such a happy couple as Bob and Susan. It is a love that will go on for ever and ever. Bob, you are a wonderful, loving friend and brother-in-law. I will miss you but the memories of you and Sue and all you meant and did together in the special years of your marriage will keep you with our family for eternity. We will have a special toast for you at all of our special affairs. See you again Santa. Love, Carol

“ Bob was an extraordinary person, and I am honored to have known and worked with him for many years. His kindness and warmth preceeded him; Bob took time to help everyone, whether as a therapist or a friend. His passing is a huge loss, and I will greatly miss his wisdom, positive spirit, and smile. My thoughts are with all of his family and friends.

“ My uncle was an amazing man. He knew a woman's heart, mind, body, and soul inside and out. He may not have always known what to say, but you knew what he meant. It was pure. It was love. And every man I meet, I compare to him. Because he is what a good man represents. I loved him... More than I ever knew before. And hopefully he knew how much that is.

“ I will so miss Bob, he was the first to say "hi how are you!" when I started at MORC Bob always had a joke or two to tell, to liven up everyone's day. Bob exuberated kindness and goodness, and Bob's legacy of helping so many people will always be cherished and an inspiration to so many. When I think of Bob, I will always have many good memories of a good, strong, caring man. Many heartfelt condolences to Bob's family, I know he was so proud of you.
