“ My dear bro Rog had an infectious (and explosive) laugh and was naturally silly, and when he thought the funny he just made was stellar, he roared, and suddenly everyone fell like dominoes into belly laughter. The jokes were good, but his reaction to them was magnifique. Sometimes he reminded me of Robin Williams. Our very own in-house comedian, Rog. Until we meet again, ... Love ya dear brother. Lucy

Roger and I attended St. Dennis Elementary for six years. Once while an addition to the school was being made Roger and I threw grenades of hard clay at the new wall. The explosion was terrific and fun. The nun did not think so. At Mother Alfred's principal office we each were made to grab our ankles while we received numerous swats of a one inch thick board with holes drilled in it. The nun was little...but powerful! The holes allowed the weapon to travel at maximum speed with little resistance to its target.
And now the nuns are gone, the school is gone, the board is gone and my cousin and my fellow veteran Roger is gone. However, with a fond smile, the memory lives on. Peace, Cuz.

Thanks, Jerry, that is a cool story. I've seen that paddle with holes at Dondero high school, hanging there as a threat in one teacher's classroom, as I don't think it was ever used.

(it could have been a memento from the teacher's own school days of yore).
