“ As a child and teenager I was a constant visitor at the KirkÆs home, so much so that one day Mr. Kirk told me that I no longer needed to knock, I could come right in. I have often wondered if he did so because he knew my family was in such chaos at the time. I will never know the reason, but I know if it had not been for Pat, him, Mrs. Kirk, Barb, Marty, Roger and Suzie welcoming me to so many meals sometimes two a day, asking me to stay to watch TV on one of the first color sets on the block, and swinging hours away on the front porch swing, I would never have become the person I am today. I remember Mr. KirkÆs cigars, his brilliant mind, his love for learning, his Sunday school lessons more like an exegesis for eighth graders, and the roaring of his car down the narrow driveway. He was sometimes petulant, sometimes, a saint, but mostly, he was a man who must have seen a lost little girl, and he opened his home and heart to her. Kathy Benn Barrett
