“ My memories of Sheryl go back over 40 yrs. As I was part of the Rowe family at one time. I watched her grow from a little girl into the kindest, sweetest Lady! Her mother would have been proud to know how wonderful a woman she became. With the health issues that she was born with, it never made her give up! Even after the tragedies of losing mother and father her brother and sisters were able to keep her going. Sheryl was especially kind to me. She has always considered me her brother. She was special to me and will be greatly missed by us all!!!

“ There are so many! So so many memories. Some are funny stories of all the things we survived through. Some detail the struggles of a friendship that stood the test of time. Some are sad moments that nobody can escape if you've lived long enough. Some are memories made only for her and I, secrets shared between two people with 44 years of time together. Sheryl was my first friend. We were friends long before we knew what it meant to REALLY be friends. She grasped just how hard it was to really get to know person, and although she had a big heart and was kind to everyone, she cherished those of us who filled a small circle of "always." I was lucky to call her my friend. Luckier still to have shared 44 years holding the bestie title. And sad, so sad, that we didn't get more time, and too many more memories were lost because life just happens. Keep an eye out friend. What may seem like forever to me, will probably be a blink of an eye to you. And I fully expect you to put in a good word. I love you!
