

Susan Savage

May 20, 1950 - September 30, 2020

Susan Bridget Savage, of Waterford, Michigan, died at her home on September 30, 2020, from cancer. Sue was born May 20, 1950, in Detroit, to the late John E. Dwyer and Bernice C. (Schwab) Dwyer, of Royal Oak, Michigan.

Sue was raised in Royal Oak, where she graduated from Shrine High School in 1968. She earned her bachelor's degree in art from Michigan State University in 1972.

Sue's great loves were nature, art, and her daughters. She spent most of her working life at Frontier Distributing, in Oxford, until her retirement in 2016. In her free time, she enjoyed bird-watching, gardening, walking her dog/third child Scout, and--among many other things--annually rewatching Alec Guinness in the BBC adaptations of Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy and Smiley's People.

Sue is survived by her daughter Mary Savage and her husband Matthew McCarty, of Pontiac, her daughter Christine Savage and her wife Colleen Anderson, of Boston, Massachusetts, as well as her siblings Richard (Elizabeth) Dwyer and Patricia Dwyer.

Sue's family will mark her passing and celebrate her life together in private.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Animal Rescue League, or any cause near to your heart.
