“ Hello my name is Chris Phillips I grew up with Mike and my fondest memory of Susie is how she would make us ALL food and never yell about eating all their food. She always had our backs and she was a great women. We would have egg and sausage mcmuffins that were the best, to this day I still make them, and I still think of her and Fourtuna St. My wife says I make the best "McMuffins" but I know who really made the best, it was Susie. She would give me advice about girls and what to say and what not to do and was like a second mother to me. For me she was really great and really down to earth and a good influence. Now that I'm older and have kids of my own she had to be a very special person to make sure Malcolm did not kill us all for everything we did and I thank you Malcolm for your patience and I know you loved her with all your heart and she is in a beautiful place now. And one day you two will be together with no worries, pain, or suffering. Withthat being said I'm going to make a Mcmuffin and think of Susie.

“ For a short while in in 1978-79, Suzanne became my surrogate mother. I remember bringing her a single tulip on Mother's Day, 1978 – she smiled and kindly treated me as one of her own. I am sure she will be missed here; but, I know she is rejoicing in the reunion with her son, John. My sincerest sympathies to the entire family.
