“ I remember when I met Tara in Kindergarden. She was wearing her purple coat. There were so many memories I have of her. Great ones. There was this time that we were standing outside throwing our backpacks at the windows trying to wake up her dad so he could let us in. Tara loved making me watch the Saw movies with her, and listening to Maroon 5. Such great times. Though we lost touch the last couple of years, Tara was always in my heart. Tara was my best friend. I will never forget her. She will be trully missed.

“ To the family of Tara Sullivan: Please accept my sincere sympathy for the loss of your loved one. While we don't know one another, experiencing the devastation of losing a loved one is something we all face in our lives. The Bible promises a time when "death will be no more" Rev 21:3.4 and assures us that God hears our prayers Ps 55:22. I hope this brings you some peace during this difficult time.

“ My heart is so sad that this brave sweetheart of a gal has left us. Tara was such a strong person who handled the life she was dealt so unbelievably well. When she was younger and hospitalized so many times, my husband would tell her how brave she was, and she would always tell us "there were others in the hospital with her that were far worse than she was". Such a brave and courageous gal Tara was. Now her pain and suffering is over and she will be in Heaven looking down on us. For the Lord God has said that those who willingly suffer here on earth will be with Him in Heaven. Pray for your "Gammie", Tara, and now be at peace. Lovingly, Gammie

“ The shock of this will never wear away. Tara, one of the most beautiful souls I have ever known, the most empathetic without question. Brilliant, talented and loving. She suffered much, for years, yet would never talk about it. Rather, she would talk about the things she loved. She would find delight in all animals, and loved a good story. She loved to laugh and she loved her family. Life isn't always fair and Tara dealt with this fact with great strength and courage. I loved her.Aunt Teri
